Report on Long distance from industrial area to college campus

IMR has both advantages and disadvantages of our location as Industrial area and IT sector such as Hadapsar Industrial Estate, Ranjangoan, Hinjewadi, Magarpatta area, Chakan Industrial area are at far from our campus. Because of the greater distance we have constraints like Budget as well as travelling time. The process of planning the Industrial Visit is time consuming.

Report on Bio-composting

Objectives: Managing waste matter to convert into compost and using it to pamper the greenery.

Compost is organic matter that has been decomposed in a process called composting. This process recycles various organic materials otherwise regarded as waste products and produces a soil conditioner. Compost is rich in nutrients and it is used for garden and green. The compost itself is beneficial for the land in many ways, including as a soil conditioner, a fertilizer, addition of vital humus or acids, and as a natural pesticide for soil. In ecosystems, compost is useful for erosion control, land and stream reclamation, wetland construction, and as landfill cover.

At IMR Institute leaves of various trees and other compostable waste is collected in one large tank and it is left for decomposition. After it is converted into compost we use it for garden.

Report on Tree Plantation (27/01/2014)

Objective:

- To maintain oxygen and carbon dioxide balance
- To impart eco-friendly environment to the community
- To provide pleasant atmosphere to society

Date of the Event: 27th Jan 2014.

Location of Event: IMR campus

In organization tree plantation program was held under the guidance of staff members where we had plant different types of plants in our campus on 27th Jan 2014. We had use some air purifying plants in higher quantity to resist air pollution. There were some flowering plants .we watered the plant daily and survived the plants properly.

Trees play very vital role in every community without trees life is almost impossible. Trees increase our quality of life by bringing natural elements and wildlife habitats into urban settings. Trees contribute to their environment by providing oxygen, improving air quality, climate amelioration, conserving water, preserving soil, and maintaining oxygen and carbon die- oxide balance so by keeping in mind importance of tree in ecosystem we took initiative of tree plantation every year in our campus with active participation of student and staff members.
